EHS Policy

TPI is committed to assuring the environmental, health, and safety (EHS) integrity of its processes and facilities at all times. The protection of the environment and the security of the health and safety of our associates and the members of the communities where we operate are of paramount importance. To that end, TPI shall:

- Pursue a global EHS practice standard through which the minimum standard of regulatory compliance shall be the more stringent of applicable local, statutory, or United States EHS regulations, laws, or standards.

- Provide and maintain work environments, processes, equipment, and operating methods with full consideration of EHS effects.

- Integrate EHS considerations into business planning and decision making.

- Empower TPI associates with EHS responsibility and impart the requisite education systems and training.

- Provide organizational structure support, directive, and resources to achieve continuously improve upon these objectives